Suit Is Filed In San Francisco

Steel Users Study Anti-Trust Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Western steel processors today studied a government civil suit charging they conspired to eliminate competition in steel bars for concrete in seven Western states.

The U.S. government filed suit Monday in U.S. District Court here, accusing an Oakland trade association, six steel companies and 12 fabricating firms with con-

Some Rivers Are Receding In Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Rescue teams continued today evacuating persons stranded by floodwaters in northwest Washington.

Thousands of acres of lowlands were under water, but there were indications some rivers were gradually receding.

The Snoqualmie River which had peaked Monday at 13 feet, dropped to 8.27 feet this morning.

The Green River was still on the rise, however, and the valley towns of Kent and Auburn, south of here, were still hard hit. Sheriff's officers and coastguardsmen were kept busy throughout the night answering calls for aid in the Green River Valley.

An Ellensburg, Wash. motorist was missing and it was believed he may have become the second fatality of the area's worst flood in 26 years.

A woman motorist was killed in a mountain pass car-truck accident Sunday night, the night the storm broke.

The State Patrol said the missing man was George Schaake who was to have returned to Ellensburg from Seattle via Snoqualmie pass Sunday night.

A wrecked car, registered to Schaake, was found amid mud and debris. The car was empty.

There was still no immediate relief in sight despite the lowering of some rivers. The damage to rich farmlands and homes was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Hundreds of persons have been rescued by helicopter, powerboats and amphibious craft from both the Green River Valley and the

Fumes Disrupt Choral Festival

500 Oklahoma Students Treated

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Carbon monoxide fumes disrupted a huge choral festival and sent some 500 high school students to hospitals and first aid stations Monday night.

Many were ill with carbon monoxide poisoning. Others thought they were and had to be treated for hysteria. None was considered even seriously ill. Doctors guessed about 200 had varying degrees of monoxide poisoning.

The youngsters were part of more than 5,400 Oklahoma high school singers from 109 schools taking part in the eighth annual Thanksgiving songfest at Oklahoma State University. Another 3,000 or so persons filled Gallagher Hall to hear the massed voices.

About 200 school and charter busses were parked around the fieldhouse. About halfway through the performance many drivers started the engines to warm the busses for the trip home.

Weldon Barnes, OSU public relations officer, said the fumes apparently were drawn into the fieldhouse by air intake fans.

Hardest hit were the soprano and alto sections in the balcony at the south end. Girls outnumbered boys at hospitals and aid stations about 10 to 1.

The program was halted just before the final number, the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "Messiah."

Witnesses said the withdrawal from Gallagher Hall was orderly. But once outside many more youngsters became ill.

BOY 17, IS JAILED

LIVERPOOL — A 17-year-old East Liverpool youth was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at a hearing Monday after he pleaded guilty of intoxication.

The youth was apprehended after he fled from his father's car and attempted to run away from the police. The father was bringing his son to the police station when he reported that he was intoxicated and he couldn't handle him.

Chest Association to Vote Dec. 16

United Appeal Plan Is Proposed Here

Salem will switch to a United Appeals campaign next year to raise money for participating agencies, if the executive committee of the Salem Community Fund Association has its way.

The executive board Monday night approved a move to merge the annual Community Chest and Red Cross fund raising drives into a single united campaign.

At a special meeting in the Farmers Bank, the committee voted unanimously to present the proposal to the Community Chest Council — comprised of representatives of all organizations in town — for approval. The precedent setting vote, as far as Salem is concerned, will be held Wednesday, Dec. 16, in the Memorial Building. The Council is the governing body for the Chest activities.

Northern Columbiana Red Cross Chapter had already voted to join in a combined program if an invitation was extended by the Community Chest, Albert Hanna, chapter president, said. He told the executive committee the action was taken at the October reorganiza-

Cosma Qualifies As Fire Lieutenant

Amil Cosma of 622 Washington Ave. successfully passed the civil service promotional examination for the extra lieutenancy in the fire department.

He was the only candidate for the examination for the new position created by City Council Oct. 20 at the request of Safety Director Joseph Fester. The change from a captain and a lieutenant in the fire department to two lieutenants followed the retirement of Captain Charles Malloy, Sept. 17.

Just before the examination Monday night at 7:30 in City Hall, an-

Gas Rates At Lisbon May Be Increased

LISBON — Village Council gave first reading to an ordinance submitted by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. increasing consumer rates here on average of 7.8 per cent.

The contract with the company expires in May of 1960.

A new truck ordinance was read and discussed and Atty. John Beck was asked to make some changes and additions and re-submit the ordinance at council's next meeting, Dec. 14.

The storm sewer in alley back of St. George's Church to prevent flooding and washouts in heavy rains was again discussed and Councilman Robert Kelm was ordered to get three bids for the digging of the ditch to lay the 12-inch tile for the 450 feet sewer, before council will authorize the installation.

Council discussed using slag along with salt for the N. Market St. hill this winter, but took no action till they meet with Board of Public Affairs to see if any damage is done by slag running into storm sewers.

Atchison Will Provide Public Bequests Later

Several Salem institutions eventually will share in the estate of the late Robert M. Atchison, retired merchant and real estate broker, according to the provisions of his will which has been filed for probate at the Courthouse.

Mr. Atchison, who died July 20, operated a clothing store here for many years.

He left his entire estate, set up in a trust fund, to his widow, Mrs. Josephine Atchison, with the following stipulated public bequests to be made whenever final distribution is made:

$10,000 to the Salem Humane Society to be used for the care of or for the destruction of aged or distressed animals, and, if practical, that a shelter for small animals be built.

$1,000 each to the First Presbyterian Church and the A.M.E. Zion Church.

$500 to the Salem Cemetery Association.

$500 to the Central Clinic and Hospital.

He also provided that, in the final estate settlement, that his interest in the two-story business building at 541 E. State St. be conveyed to the Home for Aged Women as an investment.

Donald L. Vincent was named executor and trustee of the estate.

Britain Sees Summit Getting Farther Away

Speculation Rises That Talks Won't Start Until 1961

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic circles in London believe the date for the East-West summit conference is getting farther and farther away. But officials in Paris and Bonn say the meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev still is likely before June.

Diplomatic observers here cite the full schedule of engagements for the world's chief political leaders. They see signs that Communist China is trying to put the brakes on negotiations between the Soviet Union and the West.

There is speculation that the summit won't be reached until 1961, when a new American president will be in the White House.

But West German press chief Felix von Eckardt told newsmen Monday the prevailing opinion in Bonn is that the meeting will be held in April.

American and French diplomatic sources in Paris say the most logical date appears to fall somewhere between the last week in April and the end of May.

They agree that it can't be set before then. Khrushchev will visit France for two weeks beginning March 15. French President Charles de Gaulle will be in Britain April 5-8. Following that, Western discussion of the Khrushchev visit plus time required for technical arrangements could take up another two weeks.

There also is a possibility that De Gaulle will visit America sometime in May, thus pushing a summit date back some more.

There is a feeling here that Khrushchev might lose any desire for a meeting if it fails to materialize by mid-June. Several leading British newspapers point out that by then the U.S. presidential election would not be far off, and Khrushchev possibly would prefer to talk with the new president rather than outgoing President Eisenhower.

These papers maintain there is little to support Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's continuing display of confidence that an early summit can be held. They say his

Roger Touhy To Walk To Freedom

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Roger Touhy, prohibition era gangster who schemed for freedom and sued for it, today walks out of Stateville Prison after serving 25 years for a kidnaping he says was a hoax.

Announcement that Touhy, 61, would be released was made Monday night by Warden Joseph Ragan and the State's Parole supervisor, T. Edward Austin.

Austin said his office had approved Touhy's plans to live with a sister, Ethel Alesia, in Chicago. Austin said requirements that Touhy have employment before his release were waived because of his age and because of a back injury which renders him unable to do strenuous work.

He has insisted that he was imprisoned for the 1933 kidnaping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, a sometime confidence man, on the basis of perjured testimony. His efforts to win freedom went before the Illinois Supreme Court twice and before the U.S. Supreme Court three times.

In 1942, he went over Stateville's 32-foot wall with six other prisoners but was recaptured 83 days later. He was given a 199-year sentence for his part in the break, but Gov. William G. Stratton in 1957 cut that term to 3 years and the kidnap sentence to 85 years.

Touhy, known as "The Terrible" in the 1920s when he was a gang leader with a working agreement with the old Al Capone gang, told reporters when he was granted a parole: "All I want is to live in peace for the few years left for me. I hold no grudge and I'm not looking for revenge. I'm not bitter. I just want to get out of here."

Cargo Craft's Crew, 4 Residents Killed

CHICAGO (AP) — A cargo plane, returning to Midway Airport due to a fire warning, plowed into a house in rainy darkness just before dawn today and sprayed a sleeping neighborhood with fiery death.

Killed were the crew of three aboard the Trans World Airlines Constellation and at least four residents of homes drenched with flaming airplane fuel.

The plane, from New York and Philadelphia, crashed three blocks from the southeast corner of the nation's busiest airport, a square network of runways and terminal buildings on Chicago's Southwest Side.

TWA in New York said the plane had landed in Chicago, discharged cargo and taken off again when a fire warning flashed on the instrument panel. The pilot began circling to land again when the crash occurred, TWA said.

In a flash a string of houses and apartment buildings near 634d St. and Cicero Ave. burst into flame. Firemen said 10 dwellings were set afire, some from the plane fuel, others from flames from those sprayed with gas.

"It seemed like the end of the world," residents of the neighborhood said.

"They come over the house all the time," a woman resident of one of the damaged houses said, "but somehow this one sounded different. Suddenly the entire house shook and I could hear glass flying everywhere."

Flights from all points of the compass use Midway. The rate of traffic is nearly a movement in or out every minute of the day and night.

Thomas Fracassi, 31, occupant of a house hit by the plane, said the aircraft caved the roof into a bedroom. Two of his three children were hurt. Fracassi, his wife, Geraldine, 29, and their third child, were unhurt.

The Fracassi home burst into flame. Fire enveloped a six-apartment, three-story building behind his house.

A woman living across the street from the Fracassis, Miss Gertrude Bolin, said repeated explosions awakened her. She said what she believed to be explosions could have been roofs collapsing.

The three dead crew members were identified by TWA as C. W. Helwig, pilot; D. E. Waters, copilot, and A. L. Auge, flight engineer, all based at Los Angeles.

The 116-foot-long four-engine Constellation was running behind schedule and was due in Chicago at 1:50 a.m. It left New York with a 6,576-pound cargo including an aircraft engine and other freight, 99 pounds of mail, and 106 pounds of express.

It landed in Chicago, unloaded some cargo and took off again for Los Angeles, TWA reported, when the warning of fire aboard the craft flashed on the instrument panel. The pilot began circling to return to Midway when the crash occurred.

First firemen arriving at the scene reported the entire area was ablaze. One woman ran from the blazing apartment building screaming "Oh my God, my babies, my babies!" She collapsed in shock.

John Ascher, chief of Chicago detectives, said there were four residents of dwellings killed in addition to the three airline employees.

The bodies of a man about 40 and a woman about 35 were brought to the morgue but were not identified immediately.

Robert Quinn, fire commissioner, said the body of the pilot was found still strapped to his cabin seat 50 feet away from a building at 635 S. Kilpatrick Ave. The copilot's body was recovered from the building.

Quinn said two other bodies were taken from the apartment building at 4651-59 W. 64th St.

County Fair Board Re-Elects Officers
The Columbiana County Agriculture Society re-elected all officers at a reorganization meeting Monday evening.

Richard Stamp of Butler Township was re-elected president; William Maple of Hanover Township, vice president; V. B. Lemley of Center Township, treasurer; and Clarence Crosser of Center Township, secretary.

The board picked Aug. 23 as the county fair dates for 1960, subject to the approval of the State Fair Commission.

A number of the members are expected to attend the state fair secretaries convention in Columbus Jan. 12-14.

North Carolina Is Scene of Escape

Woman Tells of Role In Quintet's Prison Break

JEFFERSON, N.C. (AP) — "I didn't know they had already killed a man...that he was in that truck out there."

"Oh, if I had known that..."

Her eyes were welling with tears and her voice was trembling as Mrs. Edd Sheets described her brief, unwilling role in the escape of five dangerous felons from an Ashe County prison gang.

She was alone Monday morning

Eddy Replaces Candy Barr In Las Vegas Club

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Nelson Eddy singing "Shortnin Bread" instead of Candy Barr stripping to the strains of "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody," and a nearly nude chorus line ordered back into costumes.

That's a result of an official campaign to improve the moral tone of gambling casinos in this desert resort.

Both steps were taken Monday at one hotel. Another is fighting the county commissioners' demand that it fire its headliner—female impersonator T. C. Jones.

The commissioners included Jones with Miss Barr and bare bosoms in what they termed unsuitable entertainment. Jones is appearing at the New Frontier.

Hotel show producer Bill Miller said: "How can I fire him? (Jones). What's he guilty of? He's a great entertainer and has appeared at a lot of the country's top houses."

Owner Beldon Kattelman of the El Rancho Vegas originally had refused to fire Miss Barr after authorities pointed out that she is appealing a 15-year prison sentence in Texas for possession of narcotics.

Her appeal bond was vacated while she was dancing at the hotel and she was jailed until it was re-instated. She is an ex-girl friend of Mickey Cohen, onetime Los Angeles mobster, and there were rumors he had a part in her adventures with the bondsmen.

Wine Merchant Dilutes Wares; Gets Huge Fine

LIBOURNE, France (AP)—The local criminal court sentenced Pierre Jouhaneau, a wine merchant, to three months in prison Monday and fined him $493,500 for putting sugar and water in his wine.

Investigators testified they found more than 37 million gallons of the 31-year-old dealer's product was adulterated with 12 to 20 per cent sugar and water.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

CINCINNATI (AP) — A two-car collision at an intersection in northwest Hamilton County Monday night caused fatal injuries to Mrs. Sylvia Grau, 32, passenger in one car, and Randall Charlton, 16 months, who was riding in the other. Both victims lived in local suburbs.

RESULTS UNCHANGED

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A team of 20 clerks and two accountants went through a 14-hour recount Monday of the city's proportional representation ballots for City Council, but the results were unchanged. Roert E. Westfall, last candidate eliminated in the original count, had posted $860, or $10 per precinct, for the recount.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Purchase of Boardman Transit Co. by Youngstown Transit Co. for $80,000 was approved by City Council Monday. The Boardman company's 12 buses will be operated by Youngstown Transit.

with her sick, 6-year-old daughter at their home about 5 road-miles north of Jefferson in the rugged Blue Ridge Mountain country. The daughter was watching a children's television show.

"I had seen the convict truck go down the road, I never do rest until it's gone," said the 32-year-old mother of four daughters.

The truck carried 12 prisoners and three guards to the day's work assignment, a spot in the remote CranberryCreek section. While en route, some of the prisoners cut a hole through the top of the wire cage.

When the vehicle stopped, five prisoners scrambled through the hole and onto guard William F. Handy as he dismounted. Handy was knocked down and disarmed. One prisoner shot work foreman Fields Absher, 55, near the heart.

Guard Judd Jones exchanged fire with the felons, but one of them held a gun muzzle against Handy's head and ordered Jones to drop his weapons.

The seven prisoners who did not participate in the escape pleaded with the felons not to kill Handy, as Jones had surrendered.

The escapees donned the guards' caps and uniforms and ordered Jones and Handy into the truck cage. The other seven prisoners loaded the mortally wounded Absher, a grandfather, into the cage also.

"I saw the prison truck come back and it stopped out front," said Mrs. Sheets. "One man got out and came to our door. He had on guard clothes and I figured he was all right."

Mrs. Sheets opened the door and the man, with aimed pistol, demanded the keys to her 1959 automobile. The five piled into the red-and-white car and fled.

Jones, Handy and the seven other prisoners rushed Absher to a hospital.

"He died before we got there," Jones said. "I don't believe he ever said a word."

The State Highway Patrol, assisted by city, county and federal officers, set up roadblocks in the northwestern section of North Carolina, trying to keep the heavily armed felons within the mountains where escape routes are few.

U.S. High Court Makes Ruling On Suspicion Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared today that suspicion alone is not sufficient reason for a police officer to lay hands on a citizen.

With this pronouncement, the court set aside by a 7-2 vote the conviction of John Patrick Henry of Chicago on charges of unlawful possession of three cartons of stolen radios.

The court majority, in an opinion written by Justice Douglas, said FBI agents investigating liquor thefts stopped without probable cause an automobile in which Henry was a passenger and discovered the radios. Further investigation developed that the radios had been stolen from an interstate shipment.

The FBI agents had no search or arrest warrant, and Douglas declared their actions were illegal and unconstitutional.

Henry was tried in U.S. District Court in Chicago on Jan. 24, 1958, convicted of thefts from an interstate shipment and sentenced to a year's imprisonment.

Except for the decision in the Henry case, the high court's business on its regular decision day was minor.

BODY IS FOUND

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Three men inspecting a farm field found a half-starved dog tied to a tree Monday and nearby discovered the burned body of the dog's master, James M. White, 34. White had been missing from his home in southern Highland County since Nov. 13. Dr. W. M. Hoyt, deputy county coroner, ruled White died accidentally of burns suffered when his clothes ignited from a fire White had built.

The Case of the Vanishing Railroad Depot

One sign of the changes that are taking place among the nation's railroads is the demise of that old familiar landmark, the local depot. Dwindling passenger traffic and rising real estate taxes have resulted in a small boom in used stations as hundreds of them have been torn down, sold or donated to community purposes. In most cases, the old buildings, still in good condition, are finding new usefulness as homes, stores, office buildings or recreation centers. What's happened to a few of them around the country is shown in photographs below.

FORMER CHESAPEAKE and Ohio station at Bay View, Mich., got a new lease on life when it was turned into a gift shop. White paint was impractical in days of smoke-gushing steam engines.

C & O TERMINAL in Bay City, Mich., has become the heart of a large shopping center, housing a supermarket, bus station and restaurant. Asphalt and automobiles instead of steel rails and chugging locomotives surround the building now.

HIRES CITY MANAGER

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Council Monday night hired Robert H. McGregor, 39, to become city manager Jan. 1, succeeding Fred E. Weisbrod who left to become city manager at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The post pays $10,500 a year. McGregor has been manager of the borough of Hanover, Pa. since March, 1957, and served three-year periods prior to that as borough manager in each of two Pittsburgh suburbs—Dormont and Whitehall.

PACT RATIFIED

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — A two-year contract was ratified by United Steelworkers Local 381 Monday night, ending a 134-day strike of 1,020 hourly workers at

A cost-of-living escalator clause was dropped, but 17 cents an hour received under such a clause in the previous contract was added to base pay. Provision was made for four-week vacations after 20 years instead of 25.

CYCLIST KILLED

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—An automobile struck and killed Michael Lewis, 14, of Whitehouse Monday night as he rode his motor bike along Ohio 295 about 20 miles west of here. Dale J. Horne, 24, of Sylva, driver of the car, told the Highway Patrol the boy turned left in front of his car. Horne was not held.

Commissioners Okay Annexation Petition

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners Frank Wilson of Wellsville and Walter A. Hunston of East Palestine Monday authorized the annexation by Columbiana of 26 acres in the northwest quarter section of Fairfield Township.

Columbiana Village council must approve the annexation before it can be effected.

The two commissioners viewed the premises a week ago. No one appeared to protest the annexation at the advertised meeting at the commissioners' office at 1:30 p.m. Monday. The petition bore the signatures of 21 landowners and residents of this territory.

The homes in the area are northeast of the new Joshua Dixon School. The territory is in the Columbiana Village School District. The water and sewage are already hooked into the village system, John W. Hutson, attorney for the petitioners, said.

Commissioner R. Max Gard, the chairman of the board, was absent from Monday's meeting.

I don't know if you remember that the author of the Sherlock Holmes whodunits was DOCTOR A. Conan Doyle. Or that Dr. Doyle merely applied the diagnostic technique of inductive reasoning to crime detection.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Let me tell you how you can use inductive reasoning to solve, or help your doctor solve, some of your medical problems. A sort of do-it-yourself diagnostic kit.

Suppose this situation: You have frequent headaches. You have sense enough to understand that dosing yourself with painkillers provides no intelligent solution to your problem.

You have been to your doctor and he has been unable to find any explanation for your complaint. Maybe you've even been to a specialist and nothing he's done has made your headaches less frequent or less severe.

Now, you've gone back to bigger and bigger doses of one or another pain killer and finally decided that one's about as good or as bad as another, despite what the ads claim.

HERE'S THE spot to introduce you to Sherlock Holmes and the method of inductive reasoning: You won't need to wear his deerstalker's cap and cloak, smoke his pipe or go snooping about with a magnifying glass. Just a notebook and a pencil and you are a "symptom detective."

Each day you write down everything you do, eat and drink. And what goes on in the little world in which you work, play, sleep and carry on any activity of any kind. When you urinated and when you had your bowel evacuation. Anything that was unusual about your voiding or your movement or the weather or the conditions about you. And especially, the names and doses of medicines you took and how each seemed to affect you.

You don't leave out anything. You've no way of knowing in advance what's important and what's going to prove useless or misleading. Recall how Sherlock put it over on the professional sleuths by noting where the cigar ashes fell, how the curtains were drawn and when the sun set or the moon rose.

At the end of a week or so, take a look at the record. Note the line-up for a day or a night or a couple of days during which you had no headache. That'll provide pretty good alibis for the suspects you listed just before and during this free period. Then go through the records of headache days and scratch out the cleared suspects.

Now you're on your way to make what we call a "diagnosis by exclusion."

In another column I'll tell you how to deal with the remaining suspects.

Cash Not Credit

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel J. Michelson is a man content to take the cash and let the credit go.

At 52 he is recognized as the Henry Ford of one of word-happy America's most flourishing but least known industries—professional ghost writing. He put the business on an assembly line.

"We don't worry about the anonymity so long as the pay is good—and it usually is," said Michelson. He is small, blue-eyed, friendly, eager-faced. He looks a little like Mickey Mouse, and a lot like Adlai Stevenson.

He began setting type in a country weekly at 13. After college he free-lanced for a time, then decided he could make more money writing under other people's names.

His success as a literary haunt has been both spectral and spectacular. In the last 25 years he has written or revised more than 20 million words.

"I've turned out everything from first-person adventure stuff to romantic novels, political speeches and scientific treatises," he said. "There's no subject or assignment ever stumped us, although when it comes to the field of electronics, I'm dead there myself."

For such specialized topics he draws upon a regular staff of three ghostly aides and a spook stable of 200 part-time workers.

"Among them are engineers, scientists and educators who want an outside source of income," he said. "There's no shortage of writing talent."

Who seeks the services of a ghost writer today? Practically everybody. His clients have included explorers, major corporations, publishing houses, suburban housewives for help on a club talk, sports figures, surgeons, prime ministers of foreign countries, statesmen and judges, and aging actresses who hope a well-written autobiography will lead to a comeback.

Michelson defends ghost writing as a legitimate profession, and one of the oldest in civilized history.

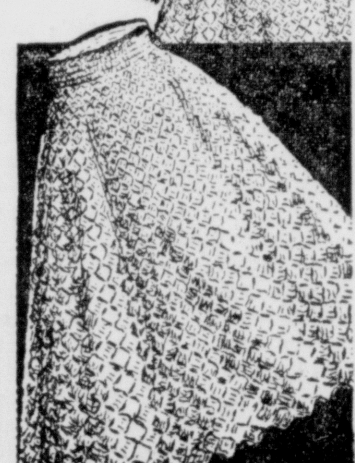

Ghost writing has become an intensely competitive business, and centers in New York, Hollywood and Washington, D.C. Michelson estimates there are 20 such services in this city alone.

"The biggest trouble with ghost writing," he confessed, "is in getting letters of recommendation from satisfied clients."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been dating a very nice fellow for almost six months but something about him disturbs me.

My boy friend and his two buddies are furnishing their apartment. They think it's perfectly okay to swipe dishes, silverware, sugar bowls, ashtrays, napkins, anything they can get out of a restaurant without being seen. I've told him I won't go with him again if he lifts anything else. I'd die of shame if we ever got stopped on the way out.

Everyone in the crowd says I'm a humorless drip and a wet blanket. They claim the prices in restaurants are pegged to take care of this sort of "shrinkage." Are they right?—NANETTE.

Dear Nanette: This sort of "shrinkage" is called stealing. The price of a meal in a restaurant does not include the silverware, napkins and sugar owl.

If more people behaved like this sleight-of-hand artist the restaurant owners would be forced to increase prices to absorb the cost of doing business with thieves.

Unwelcome Squatter

Dear Ann: Recently my husband and I moved into an apartment owned by a mother-in-law. It seemed like a good idea, excellent location, low rent and I've always been fond of my mother-in-law.

The trouble is I can't get my husband's unmarried brother out of our apartment. He has a key and lets himself in when I'm at work and my husband is out of town. It's a terrible feeling to open the door and see him sitting there leaning at me.

He has tried to kiss me and I've pushed him away. I think there must be something mentally wrong with him. When I tell him to leave he just sits there and smiles.

I got desperate when my husband returned from his last trip and I told him. He turned the thing around and said "YOU are the one who is sick. My brother is a swell person. You're imagining things."

What can I do? I'm a nervous wreck.—DORA.

Dear Dora: Have the locks changed and insist that your brother-in-law not have a key. This should do it.

Adopt U.S. Ways

Dear Ann: If you say so I'll keep out of it. My neighbors moved here recently from a foreign country. They have two attractive daughters, 16 and 18. The girls have become friendly with our daughter.

Both neighbor girls have excessively hairy legs. Apparently in their country it is ignored. They have noticed it is different in the United States. They've asked per-

Audit At Columbiana Shows Income Sources

COLUMBIANA — A recent audit of the town's books, covering the period July 1, 1957 to June 16, 1959 shows the mayor's office paid a total of $11,746 into the village treasury out of total collections of $19,679.

The balance went to the state and county treasuries and to a couple of minor miscellaneous items.

The village's $11,746 share included $8,021 from State Highway Patrol cases tried here, a source no longer available since enactment of a new law Nov. 5 removing mayor's courts from jurisdiction in such cases.

Of the $8,021, the sum of $6,251 represented the town's 55 per cent share of fines and forfeitures in the patrol cases and $1,770 from costs in the state cases tried here. Other major sources of income for the village treasury through the mayor's office were local ordinance fines, $2,074; ordinance costs, $387; parking fines, $499, and liquor fines, $1,100.

Third Session Set Of Juvenile Jury

LISBON — The third session of juvenile jury has been set for Friday, Dec. 4, at 1 p.m. in Village Hall, according to Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Originally, the juvenile jury met the last Wednesday of each month. However, the State Highway Patrol requested the day be changed to Friday when they have more patrolmen on duty.

Each high school in the county sends four students as prospective jurors. The trial is conducted on the same order as other trials, with Judge Tobin presiding. Assistant Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis represents the state, and another attorney is appointed for the defendant.

The group attending is limited to students enrolled in government classes in the high schools.

Ohio Needs a Welfare Focus

Gov. DiSalle plainly intends to make Ohio ashamed of the things wrong with its welfare institutions. His latest public statement on the subject, this one concerning the program for retarded and mentally ill children, repeats the theme he has used in all his previous observations:

Ohio, a wealthy and progressive state, should be ashamed of the way it has neglected its responsibilities for welfare.

With few exceptions, the governor has found nothing to be proud of in his personal inspection of the state's facilities. The best he has been able to say about them is that some of them are doing remarkably good work under heavy handicaps. The heaviest handicap is shortage of help, though lack of adequate space is almost as heavy.

Yet, no one could say that Ohioans are indifferent to the problem.

Voters and taxpayers in Ohio have supported their state government in all attempts to upgrade welfare institutions.

IN VICINITIES surrounding state institutions, many thousands of people have found the time, the will and the imagination to brighten the lives of Ohioans who were in the state institutions.

They have followed with interest and approved every credible plan for giving a boost to the state's efficiency in performing this grim and seemingly endless chore.

It is not the indifference of Ohioans that has created the unsatisfactory condition which Gov. DiSalle has been calling to attention. He must have learned by this time that what he has brought to attention is as distressing to his fellow Ohioans as it is to him. For example, when he said a few days ago that it might be possible one day for every inmate of a state institution to have a daily bath, no one protested that such a thing was ridiculous, or that it was a wish that could not be fulfilled.

Ohioans are willing to be their brothers' keepers in the finest sense if they can be given a clear focus of their welfare responsibilities.

THIS STATE has not been made politically aware of what is essentially a sociological problem. Gov. DiSalle has made it his responsibility to say what sometimes was left unsaid in the past because it seemed to be good politics to say as little as possible about the state's "forgotten" men, women and children.

If the net result is to sharpen Ohio's welfare focus, so is citizens have a clear concept of what they should be doing that they haven't been doing, the governor's efforts will have been successful.

Evolution of a Revolution

One of the curious things about the momentous policy that became known as the Marshall Plan was its unheralded birth in a speech on a college campus. Like the famous speech by the late Sen. Vandenberg that signaled the end of isolationism in the Republican party, no one paid any attention at the time.

But the repercussions were tremendous, as they always are when men do the hardest thing that men ever try to do—think logically.

The aid the United States sent abroad under the Marshall Plan had the impact of a world revolution; it stopped the spread of Communism so successfully that belatedly the Kremlin imitated the idea for its own purposes.

The end of isolationism is the Republican party, as rationalized by Sen. Vandenberg, had historic effect when the logic of its presentation finally reached the party rank-and-file.

But there was no headline news at the time. There rarely is when momentous ideas are put into circulation. Now there is another one beginning to circulate.

IS THE IDEA of Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson that the outward flow of U.S. aid, having accomplished its purpose of restoring the economic health of European beneficiaries, should be regulated more closely from now on for the benefit of the United States.

The outflow of gold from this country, Anderson has been explaining, must be checked. The United States must plan to get back more benefit from its spending under the foreign aid policy. It should demand more participation in future development plans by the beneficiaries of its international assistance.

This idea has put Secretary Anderson into controversy with the same kind of politicians who previously ridiculed him for declining to panic during the 1958 recession and for talking about balancing the federal budget.

These men, mostly Democrats who define

Touchdown For the Underdog

It isn't every day in this rough-and-tumble scrimmage over the taxpayer's dollar that the underdogs get a break.

But when President Eisenhower pinned the Defense Department's ears back by putting an outside limit of 41 billion on its new appropriation, the underdogs scored an unexpected touchdown. For once, the taxpayers scored before the generals and admirals could get organized to start their annual drive for maximum spending and minimum civilian complaining.

Their technique always has been a thing of beauty. They twisted the argument over money into an argument over whether to defend the United States or invite its foes to receive its abject surrender.

They made every congressman who lifted an eyebrow at a request for another billion or two feel like an undercover agent for the Kremlin. With the help of their congressional allies, they gave the impression that anyone who wanted to know the whys and wherefores of military spending was under suspicion of treason.

Moreover, by asking more than they expected to receive, they managed to retreat stubbornly to "previously rationalized positions" in such a way that budget-cutters were put in the light of making martyrs of the helpless wearers of the braid.

No one really blames the generals and admirals for putting up a fight at budget time. But billions have wondered why it shouldn't be just as honorable for someone to put up a fight in behalf of Americans who learned at George Washington's historic knee to doubt the protestations of professional militarists.

These determined and dedicated people are still in the budget game. They will get most of what they think they need. But for once in a budgetary lifetime they have not scored first with wild statements about how much more they want than they are likely to get. They have been told in advance how much to expect — 41 billion in a 79-billion budget. That's 52 per cent. If they can't do it with that much, they can't do it at all.

Cuba? No Thanks

By MARSHALL BANNELL

HAVANA

Cuba, once the playground of the Caribbean, rapidly is finding itself "off limits" to the tourist trade. Americans with vacation dollars to spend are bypassing the island for a dozen other resort areas in this part of the world.

A spot check of representatives of U.S. travel agencies shows that there has been a 90 per cent drop in requests for air tours to Cuba since last January. Except for Cubana, the government airline which operates between New York, Miami and Havana, U.S. airlines confirm these reports.

At least five and probably more major steamship companies which operate winter tours to the Caribbean every year have dropped Havana from their regular itinerary.

These include such major lines as Swedish American, Cunard and Grace and involve such heavily booked ships as the giant Gripsholm and the Mauretania.

Both the Holland-American Line and the North German Lloyd Line are expected to announce cancellation of stops at Havana very shortly, according to steamship agents here.

AIRLINE OFFICIALS, steamship agents and U.S. tourist agents blame the drop in tourism to Cuba directly on the anti-American outbursts of Premier Fidel Castro.

Some tourists are merely cautious about running into street fighting and anti-American demonstrations in Havana and thereby being confined to their hotel rooms during their visit. Others, tourist agents report, are plain "mad" and ask, "Why should I spend my money in a country whose government spends most of its time insulting the United States?"

For the Cuban government it is a serious situation for which, due to nationalistic political reasons, Premier Castro appears to have no answer, even though he wants and needs tourist dollars.

In 1957, for example, according to the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA), which represents all recognized travel agents in the United States, 269,000 tourists visited Cuba. Based on the ASTA estimate of the average expenditure per person on such trips of $240 each, not including transportation, this would indicate that in 1957 Cuba received a minimum of some $64,560,000 in valued U.S. dollars from tourists.

In 1958, according to ASTA statistics, the total dropped to 201,500 American tourists entering Cuba, spending about $48,136,600.

NO STATISTICS have been released on the numbers of tourists entering Cuba in 1959 by the official National Cuban Tourist Bureau.

But empty hotels, gambling casinos and night clubs, and complaining taxi drivers attest to the fact that "incoming tourists from the United States have dropped to the vanishing point," to quote one Havana hotel manager.

"We now consider it a good month if we can keep our operating losses down to below $100,000 per month," he said sourly.

American tourist agents themselves, in many cases, are not recommending to clients that they visit Cuba this year.

Under the banner of the ASTA, some 2,000 U.S. tourist agents traveled to Havana late in October for their annual meeting. The Castro government is estimated to have spent at least a million dollars on the agents in promotional activities in an effort to impress them with the tourist attractions of Cuba.

Flags of welcome to the American tourist agents adorned every pole in Havana, meals were half-price at all restaurants, and in general the "red carpet" treatment was extended. The government paid many of the hotel bills, even though they were half price.

DURING THEIR VISIT to Havana, however, the U.S. tourist agents were treated to a situation that might confront their clients at any time. Planes flew over Havana, anti-aircraft guns went into operation and at least 50 Cubans were wounded by flak and by fast-driven cars "shooting up the town" and tossing out home-made bombs.

Thereafter the visiting tourist agents heard a constant stream of anti-American invective from the Cuban press, radio and television. And Castro himself went on one of his marathon TV appearances to denounce the United States.

When things became relatively quiet and it was safe to leave their hotels, the 2,000 tourist agents hastened to the airport and returned to the United States. Frustrated and hard working Cuba tourist commission officials had "no comment."

Oath of Allegiance

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Student Loyalty Affidavit Is Supplement

Congress has appropriated 31 million dollars a year under the National Defense Act for loans to needy students for their education provided they sign an anti-Communist affidavit in supplement to the Oath of Allegiance to uphold the government of the United States.

But 12 universities and colleges, out of 1,370 institutions which have been participating in the program, now refuse to continue under it. They declare that the anti-Communist stipulation raises unnecessarily a suspicion of disloyalty.

The colleges are required by law to provide only $1 of their own funds for every $9 furnished by the federal government for student loans but the educational institutions say nevertheless that they are obliged to act as trustees or allocating the money.

Most of the institutions which have declined to cooperate in the program can finance needy students in other ways. John F. Morse, administrator of the loan fund in the Office of Education says:

"This act was passed for the benefit of needy students, not for the institutions. Wealthy institutions may well provide these benefits from other sources but there are a number of institutions which, if they were to take the stand Harvard, Yale and others have taken, would literally force students out of college."

Some of the college executives say they don't object to the taking of the Oath of Allegiance by the students but they do not want to see an anti-Communist affidavit included. They argue that it is unnecessary and singles the students out as a class.

To this, several senators reply that to take the oath and refuse to sign the anti-Communist affidavit is a contradiction. Sen. Bridges, (R-NH), for instance, says the students should deem it an honor to sign the document in question.

THE NET RESULT may be the passage by the next session of Congress of a different law which in some respects will be stiffer. Amendments have been offered by Sen. Russell (D-Ga) and Sen. Mundt (R-SD) which would repeal the existing provision and substitute language that would make it a felony hereafter for anyone to accept a loan under the program and then participate in Communist organizations or advocate the overthrow of our government by illegal means.

This section of the proposed law would be ordered printed on every loan application form furnished to any student.

He would, in addition, be required to take the same Oath of Allegiance which is prescribed for members of the armed forces, for members of Congress and for employees of the federal government generally. As one senator pointed out, the students enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training Corps in the colleges have always had to take a loyalty oath.

The temper of the majority in the Senate was reflected in the debate last summer over the proposed repeal of the "loyalty" section of the student-loan program, which motion was defeated by a 49-42 vote. Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) said:

"What about the boys who are training at Colorado Springs, (Air Force Academy)?... What about the boys at West Point? They held up their hands. They do not seem to mind doing it; the taking of the oath did not seem to bother them at all."

SEN. RUSSELL, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said:

"We are getting into a queer state of affairs in this country when we cannot mention Communism in connection with out colleges. I yield to no man in my respect for those who devote their lives to the administration of our great educational institutions. But in most instances they are far removed from the harsh realities of life."

"I shall not abandon my responsibility to undertake to protect the Treasury of the United States from Communist infiltrators merely because I am told that it is an insult to thousands of young men in this country who seek financial help from the government to go to college, to ask them to say that they are not Communists or to ask them to take an oath to support and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Sen. Johnston (D-SC) said:

"In the subcommittee on internal security, we have found a pattern. The Communists use the students within the college to further their purposes...."

"If we let one such person into a college... he will be protected to a certain extent because the student body will say that he is attending the college because of payments he is receiving from the government of the United States and that tends to turn suspicion away from that individual. That is one reason I want to throw all the protections possible around those whom we assist as students in the colleges of the United States."

To the argument that Communists lie anyhow and hence the oath is superfluous or ineffectual, many senators have replied by referring to the case of Alger Hiss. Because of technicalities, he couldn't be prosecuted for Communist associations under then existing laws but was jailed for perjury because he lied under oath to a congressional committee.

Business In Politics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A profound obligation rests upon businessmen of all sizes and interests to take a more active part in politics. This has become more and more evident as the political power of the labor unions has grown. And there is a healthy increase of determination in the business world to become more active.

But there are dangers, serious dangers, attendant upon the entry of business into the political arena. Clearly the old pattern which goes back to the days of McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, and Harding will not promote better government and will result in more defeats for the Republican Party.

Those methods were concerned with the financing and domination of the Republican Party by large and conspicuous aggregations of wealth through the nomination of candidates, the overwhelming of conventions by purchased enthusiasm, and even the domination of party leaders by favor or fear.

THAT SORT OF THING will not do in these days. To revive it will feed the Democratic Party the issue that it so desperately needs. It will provide proof for the leaders in that party for their favorite claim that the Republican Party is the party of the rich and the big corporations and Wall Street.

It was because of this that the Republican National Committee at its meeting in Des Moines some months ago announced that it wanted to rid the party of the "rich man's" label.

There is a function for businessmen in politics, and a sorely needed one. This is to encourage the assumption of political responsibility by businessmen at the local level in behalf of conservative, sound government, regardless of party.

Most businessmen whom I know have reached that conclusion. They do not want a businessmen's party as such, but they want to encourage the most widespread political activity among all Americans.

There are apparently elements in Wall Street — which is the most politically naive area in the nation — who have not learned that lesson. The proof is what has been happening in behalf of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, notably in connection with his recent trip to the Pacific Coast.

BEFORE HIS VISIT to California, some of the vast ramifications of the Rockefeller business interests were activated for the purpose of getting good points of contact for the electioneering of the governor.

It was reliably reported that David Rockefeller, brother of the governor and vice chairman of the immense Chase Bank, made it known to big businessmen in California that it would be nice to arrange things for the governor's visit. This was apparently only a polite suggestion. But when a polite suggestion is made by concentrated power, prudence dictates compliance.

With the memory of the vast concentration of wealth and hired publicity that achieved the not-too-miraculous nomination of Wendell Wilkie in 1940, this Rockefeller drive will not only give plenty of ammunition to the Democrats in 1960, but chill the enthusiasm of Republican workers.

The suggestion that high-powered and well-financed methods can lead to a nomination is exactly what may be needed to snuff out the rising hopes of the Republican Party as it faces another Presidential campaign.

Castro has banned Santa Claus, Christmas trees, ornaments and jingle bells. He is the first man actually to shot Santa Claus and make him a firing squad target. We can imagine Fidel's reply to a Cuban Virginia O'Hanlon asking, "Is there a Santa Claus?" "Virginia, your friends who say there is no Santa Claus are right. Snomish River Valley to the north.

Many left reluctantly—unwilling to abandon homes and livestock. Some refused to leave.

Pearl Westerlund, 59, said she didn't intend to leave her home near Kent.

"But then I stood on a chair to get away from the water, and men in a boat spotted me."

"When they asked me if I didn't want to leave, I decided I did. That water was getting pretty deep."

Although only showers hit the valleys Monday, civil defense authorities reported heavy rains in the Stampede Pass area of the Cascades. The U.S. Weather Bureau said it lost communications with its Stampede station late in the day.

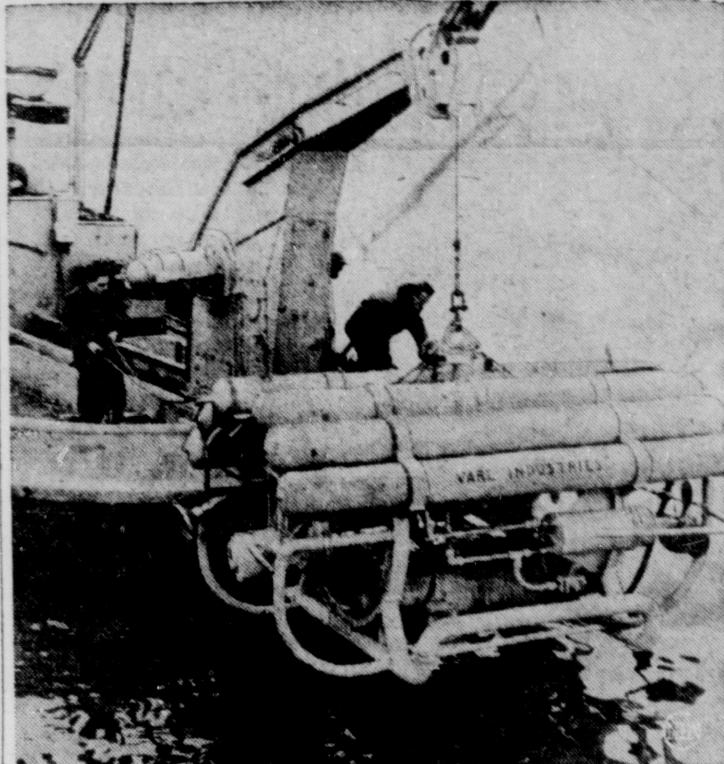

In Snoqualmie Pass, where a 300-foot section of the state's main east-west route was taken out by a slide, steady rain fell.

Cross - state highway travel, blocked by weekend slides on all passes, resumed today at curtailed rates. The state highway department said one-way traffic would be resumed on the Snoqualmie Pass highway Monday, but that rebuilding the four-lanes probably would not be attempted until spring.

Train traffic was rerouted via Portland, Ore. and Vancouver, Wash.

A triple trick of weather brought the wholesale flooding. Weeklong rains deluged western Washington. A chinook, the Western name for a strong, warm, variable wind, sent mountain pass temperatures into the mid-40s. Rapid snow run-off gushed into the rain-swollen streams and rivers.

more firms will switch to the payroll deduction system. This program has been demonstrated locally to produce more funds.

If the Council OK's the idea, the joint campaign would be held in October, designated nationally as United Appeals Month.

Because the Red Cross chapter's fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30, the chapter will conduct a partial drive to raise enough money to run it until Nov. 1, 1960, provided the UA drive is approved.

The chapter would then change its fiscal year to Nov. 1 through Oct. 31 to correspond with the Community Chest organization, chest officials say.

Fennema named a three-man committee, selected from membership of the executive committee to present the plan to the Chest Council.

Members are Hanna, who is also vice chairman of the Chest Assn.; Robert Oswald, chairman of the drive which just ended; and James S. Gregg, vice chairman of the public relations committee.

The "Red Feather" drive went over the top by $279 for a total of $61,574, Oswald told the executive board. The goal was $61,295.

Cross Burned On Campus at Ohio Northern

ADA, Ohio (AP)—A cross burning by students at Ohio Northern University resulted from a misunderstanding, F. Bringle McIntosh, university president, said today.

A cross was burned in front of the administration building Sunday, and about 50 hooded students tried to burn a cross in front of the home of Dr. Robert R. Huddleston, religious counselor.

McIntosh said a "false rumor" started all the fuss. The rumor, he said, was that Dr. Huddleston had said Catholics on the campus of the Methodist school "are not cooperating in a religion and life program conducted . . . with the participation of leaders of all faiths."

McIntosh said he spent "all day yesterday tracing down the rumor. I met with 50 student leaders of fraternities and educational groups, with faculty members and school officials and am thoroughly confident that the statements attributed to Dr. Huddleston are completely false."

It was McIntosh who broke up the cross burning attempt at Dr. Huddleston's home. The students, wearing paper hoods, carried banners reading, "Down with Happy Bob" and "Happy Bob Must Go."

McIntosh said he had no idea who the students were and does not intend to take any disciplinary action "because it was thoroughly a misunderstanding."

He said there is "no foundation to any belief that there is religious prejudice on campus. Although we are a Methodist school, our discussions on religious and public issues last week included participation by leader of most religions."

The university has a student enrollment of 1,560, of which 1,210 are men and 350 women.

Reports were that the students chose the cross burning as a switch on Ku Klux Klan methods.

Quakers Land 4 on All-Columbiana County Dream Team

Potters, Bulldogs Win 2 Positions

Davidson, Mackall
Unanimous Picks

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Don Davidson of Salem and Bob Mackall of East Liverpool were named honorary co-captains of the 1959 All-Columbiana County football team selected Monday night by the county's 11 coaches and three sports writers.

Ohio's eighth ranked Salem Quakers dominated the first team with four selections. East Liverpool and East Palestine each placed two men on the starting eleven. Wellsville, Leetonia and Lisbon each placed one man on the mythical dream team.

Davidson, an end, and Mackall, a quarterback, were both unanimous picks by the 14 coaches and sports writers.

Other Salem players named to the first team were tackle Ned Chappell, halfback Fred Phillips and fullback Pete Schmauch.

Besides the talented Mackall, East Liverpool placed guard Charlie Davidson on the first eleven. East Palestine, Tri-County League champions, contributed high scoring halfback George Morris and tackle Chuck Robinson.

LEETONIA PLACED its tough guard, Bob Hinchliffe, on the first team. Jim Tanner, veteran center from Lisbon, and Bob Brown, the Wellsville end, rounded out the top eleven.

Robinson is the biggest man on the squad at 205 pounds. Charlie Davidson, at 165 pounds, is the lightest. The line averages 182 pounds and the backs 179.

The coaches and writers also selected second and third teams. Salem placed tackle Joe Julian on the second team and quarterback Vince Horning and guard Fred Harshman on the third squad. Center Tom Dahms received honorable mention for the Quakers.

In the second team backfield were halfback Dennis Johnson and fullback Paul Fry, both of Lisbon; quarterback Willis Woods of East Palestine; and halfback Dave Zelch of East Liverpool.

THE SECOND string line has Ron Prince of East Liverpool and Dick Libert of East Palestine at the ends; Craig Burbick of East Liverpool and Julian at the tackles; Jim Bise of East Liverpool and Joe Sevensch of Leetonia at the guards; and Phil Baldwin of Wellsville at center.

Salem and East Liverpool each placed seven men on the three teams. All 11 high schools in the county placed at least one man on the three teams.

East Palestine and Lisbon each placed four men; Leetonia, three; Wellsville and Salineville, two; and Beaver, Fairfield-Waterford, Columbiana and United, one each.

Don Davidson, a junior, is the only non-senior on the first team. The second and third teams are each composed of eight seniors and three juniors.

Seniors selected on the All-County team are expected to dominate the selections to the 25-man Columbiana County All-Star squad which will take on the Beaver Valley, Pa., All-Stars in East Liverpool next August.

The same coaches who named the All-County teams Monday night will meet next month to select the squad which will tangle with Beaver Valley. Only seniors are eligible for the All-Star game.

EARLE BRUCE of Salem was named by the newly organized Columbiana County Coaches Association last night to be head coach of the Ohio team in the All-Star tilt. Bruce will be allowed to pick two assistants.

Both the Pennsylvania and Ohio coaching staffs will be paid $350 by the East Palestine Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the All-Star tilt.

The coaches also elected officers for their new organization at their meeting in East Palestine on Monday. Leetonia's Pat Mancuso is president; Lou Venditti of East Liverpool, vice president, and Bruce, secretary-treasurer.

Volleyball Standings Remain Unchanged

Leaders in the Salem Adult Volleyball League remain the same today following last night's play at the Memorial Building.

Deming, now 4-0, won a forfeit from Sekely and the Post Office took three games from Bliss to remain tied for first place. They have won four while remaining undefeated.

They were the only games played last night. Four games are scheduled tonight.

In the Post Office Bliss action, the mailmen took the series 15-3, 17-15 and 15-9.

The loss gives Sekely a 0-4 record and Bliss a 1-3 mark.

OC Officials Name Cooper, Urick Best OC Back, Lineman

DELAWARE — Muskingum fullback Bill "Cannonball" Cooper and Ohio Wesleyan center and linebacker Max Urick have been named the best back and best lineman in the Ohio Conference in balloting by coaches, scouts and sports publicists in the 14 college league.

Cooper and Urick, both juniors, will receive the Mike Gregory Memorial Award, highest individual honor in the conference. The award, originated by the late Mike Gregory of Granville in 1956, is presented by the OC Sports Publicity Association to the outstanding back, lineman and basketball player in the conference.

Cooper's election makes him the first footballer to receive the Gregory Award twice. The All-Ohio and All-Conference 1958 fullback choice received the most votes ever recorded in the balloting, with nine colleges naming him the best back in the league.

Urick's selection makes Ohio Wesleyan the first OC college to have two men capture the award. Tom Zesiger was the first lineman trophy winner in 1956.

A 210-pound All-Ohio high school star from New Philadelphia, Cooper is a two-way performer in the unlimited substitution rule. Muskie coach Ed Sherman calls Cooper "The best fullback I've ever seen in the Ohio Conference. He is as good at blocking and defense as he is at carrying the ball."

Urick, at 5-10 and 170 pounds, has been labeled "pound for pound one of the best linebackers in the nation." His ability to diagnose the opposition, discover "keys," and his quick reaction to a play as it develops has given him a hand in as many as fifty per cent of Wesleyan tackles in a game.

Also an All Ohio high school choice, at Troy, Urick has led Ohio Wesleyan to the league title in rushing defense the past two seasons.

Urick edged Heidelberg tackle Jim Boeke in the lineman balloting, with Wittenberg and Jim Nave also receiving strong support.

Two fullbacks and two quarterbacks trailed Cooper in back balloting. Wittenberg's field general

AFL Girds for Duel With NFL

Houston Picks
LSU's Cannon

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Organizers of the new American Football League girded for a dollar duel with the National League today in a scramble to land the blue ribbon names of college football.

The AFL chose 264 players in a day-long draft Monday, planned to select at least 400 more within a few weeks, and then announced it is squaring away to go into operations in 1960.

From the Minneapolis-St. Paul ownership came a firm assurance that it definitely will field a team in the AFL next year despite reports that a franchise in the National is open to the Twin Cities.

Left unsettled, however, was selection of the new league's commissioner. The list was reduced Monday to two, unidentified candidates, one now in the college ranks and the other connected with pro ball.

While some AFL owners discounted predictions of a full scale bidding war with the National, it seemed obvious that the entrenched NFL would not yield easily in competition for the top players it wants.

It was clear AFL owners expected the lure of wide-open job opportunities to steer a lot of talent their way.

The nation's ranking stars were plucked early. Houston chose fullback Bob White of Ohio State and halfback Dick Bass of College of Pacific after picking Louisiana State's All-America Billy Cannon in the first round.

Boston named halfback Ron Burton of Northwestern and center Max Fugler of LSU. Buffalo picked halfback Ray Jauch of Iowa and end Jim Houston of Ohio State. Two of the South's finest backs, Johnny Robinson of LSU and Tom Moore of Vanderbilt were drafted by Dallas, whose first round selection was SMU's Don Meredith, a quarterback.

Massillon Picked AP State Champs; Quakers In 8th Place In Last Poll

East Liverpool Dropped Into 21st Spot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Massillon's Tigers looked natural today as they perched on Ohio's high school football throne.

The Stark County powerhouse, winner of 10 straight, was voted the championship and the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy by 53 sports writers in the final Associated Press poll. It was Massillon's eighth title in the poll's 13 years. Only one other club, Canton McKinley, has won it twice.

And McKinley, ancient foe of the Tigers, was the stepping stone to this year's triumph. A week ago Massillon was second to Springfield's nine-game winners in the ratings, but the Tigers tripped McKinley 20-0 Saturday, while Springfield was idle, to snatch the laurels.

Only 16 of the 53 writers representing newspapers and radio-television stations were from the southern sector, but even the northern group was so impressed by Springfield's stature that it threw heavy support to the Wildcats.

On the 10-9-8 etc. voting basis Massillon wound up with 427 points to Springfield's 389—a margin of 38. Massillon picked up 40 as four northern Ohio ballots put the Tigers in first place and ignored Springfield entirely. Had the four named Springfield to the second spot, the Wildcats would still have been two points off Massillon's total.

Barberton won the inaugural poll back in 1947, then Massillon cracked through for seven in a row, six under Coach Chuck Mathers and one under Tom Harp. Wade Watts' Canton McKinley club took over the next two years, followed by Cleveland Benedictine and Mel Knowlton's Alliance Aviators. The latter, defending champs, finished twelfth this time.

The Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy, emblematic of the championship and awarded annually to The Associated Press poll winner, must be captured three times for permanent possession.

Massillon has one tucked away for its 1950-51-52 string, and today's conquest adds another for the 1953-54-55 championships. The award will be made at the Tiger-town banquet Thursday, Dec. 10.

This is the second time Springfield has finished as runnerup to Massillon. In 1952 Jim McDonald's Wildcats matched Massillon's 10-game winning streak, but the voters gave the Tigers the nod. The Wildcats were ninth in 1949, fourth in 1950, third in 1951, second in 1952 and ninth in 1954, for the best showing any rebel team has ever made. Only other southern squads to menace the champions were Hamilton in 1950 and Portsmouth in 1953. Each finished second to Massillon.

In addition to their unblemished records, the two leaders were close in everything else. Springfield averaged 45.3 points to Massillon's 43.1, and on defense the Wildcats had the better of it by allowing 4.2 points per game to Massillon's 4.6. None came close to the defensive mark of third-place Kettering Fairmont which allowed only seven points in winning nine straight.

From Here and There

From here and there: Cleveland John Marshall (7-1-1) and Cleveland Benedictine (7-2-1) battle it out Thanksgiving morning for the city's championship. Parma, which eased into a ninth-place tie with Elyria in the poll, wound up with 19 straight wins and its second straight Lake Erie League title.

The Buckeye Conference named Lorain's Art Lave as coach of the year. His 11-year record is 61-29-10. Martins Ferry whipped Belleaire 20-14 for its first unbeaten untied mark since 1936. Canton Central's dreams were shattered 20-14 by Youngstown East—each team winding up with a 9-1 record. The losers clung to seventh in the ratings. Warren Harding finished with 8-2 by beating Youngstown South 20-8. Paul Warfield, Warren halfback, scored all three touchdowns for a 93-point total.

Shelby, after winning nine in a row, bowed 20-0 to Wooster. After losing early to Warren and Massillon, Hal Paul's Steubenville team rolled over six straight foes by 234-14. The 8-2 record is the Big Red's best since 1951 when it finished second in the poll.

Dale Degenhardt of once-beaten Brilliant threw 13 touchdowns passes to 225-pound 6-3 Jim Presley this year. Presley caught a total of 43.

East Liverpool, knocked out of the ratings by the 14-8 loss to Alliance, came up with the year's shortest kickoff. An onside attempt just brushed the ball out of bounds on the Potters' 41—a one-yard boot, where Alliance took over. Alliance's Mel Knowlton says Liverpool's Bob Mackall is the state's fastest back.

Denison St. Mary's made it 28 games without a loss by trimming Dover St. Joseph 60-6, and is staking a claim to the state Class A title. Bob Patin of the St. Mary's team scored 38 of the 60 points to boost his season total to 206, a new Tuscarawas County record. The old mark was by Sam Mascotti of Dover St. Joseph, who counted 192 in 1951 to finish second in the state to Chaucery-Dover's Hubert Bobo.

1959 ALL-BIG TEN FOOTBALL TEAM — Here's Western Conference (Big Ten) football selections by The Associated Press for 1959: Ends, Ron Norton, Iowa, and Jim Houston, Ohio State; tackles, Dan Lanphear, Wisconsin, and Joe Rutgens, Illinois; guards, Jerry Stalcup, Wisconsin, and Bill Burrell, Illinois; center, Jim Andreotti, Northwestern; backs, Dean Look, Michigan State, Bob Jeter, Iowa, Ron Burton, Northwestern, and Mike Stock, Northwestern.

How They Stack Up

Here's how 53 sports editors today named Massillon's Tigers to the 1959 Ohio high school football championship in the year's final Associated Press poll.

Shown are the first place votes in parentheses, the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, and the won-lost-tied and scoring records of the leaders.

The playoff sites have not been selected. The two winners will advance to the championship game in the Holiday Bowl, St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 19.

Hillsdale was runner-up for the 1957 championship game, losing to Pittsburgh (Kan) State 27-26.

Burrell, Lanphear Unanimous Picks

Northwestern Lands 3 On All-Big Ten Team

CHICAGO (AP) — Guard Bill Burrell of Illinois and tackle Dan Lanphear of Wisconsin are the only unanimous choices for the 1959 All-Big Ten football team selected by 12 Associated Press sports writers.

Although Northwestern tailspinned after winning its first six games, the ever-dangerous Wildcats landed three places on the AP team.

Champion Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa each took two berths. One spot each went to Michigan State and Ohio State.

Burrell and Lanphear typify an outstanding 1959 crop of Big Ten linemen, which, throughout the season, stole much of the thunder from the backs.

Aligned with these two seniors on the first team were Jim Houston, Ohio State, and Don Norton, Iowa; tackle Joe Rutgens, Illinois, guard Jerry Stalcup, Wisconsin, and center Jim Andreotti, Northwestern.

The No. 1 backfield consists of quarterback Dean Look, whose all-around play guided Michigan State to second place; halfback Bob Jeter of Iowa, the Big Ten's leading ground gainer; halfback Ron Burton of Northwestern, an explosive game-breaking runner and adept pass catcher; and fullback Mike Stock, Northwestern's rushing leader and No. 1 scorer in the league.

Repeaters from last year's All-Big Ten were Burton, Houston and Stalcup. Guard Ron Matony of Purdue dropped from first to second and injury-bothered fullback Bob White of Ohio State fell to the third team.

Lombardo Still Aims at Boating Mark

RENO, Ven. (AP) — Bandleader Guy Lombardo and the designer and driver of his jet-propelled hydroplane Tempo Alcoa still aim to shoot for a new world record — despite a nearly disastrous accident Monday.

The sleek aluminum craft, with Les Staudacher at the controls, skinned into the beach at Pyramid Lake 30 miles northeast of here, struck a rock and soared 200 feet before crashing on the sand.

Staudacher, 47, emerged badly bruised but claiming he had topped the world record of 260.35 miles per hour on three runs before the crash.

Lombardo skinned his leg when he tripped while running toward the crash scene after he hopped out of his station wagon. He and another hydroplane enthusiast, Bill Stead of Reno, witnessed the spectacular accident.

Except for its right sponson — a pontoon-like float — the hydroplane appeared undamaged. However, Staudacher said it would be returned to Bay City, Mich., for repairs before another record try at Pyramid Lake next year.

Penn State Will Play In Liberty Bowl

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Students and football fans in this university town greeted the news of Penn State's acceptance of the Liberty Bowl bid with subdued enthusiasm.

One observer said many students are waiting to see who would be state's opponent in the first Liberty Bowl to be held Dec. 19 in Philadelphia's 100,000-seat Municipal Stadium. Bowl officials haven't come up with an opponent yet.

In Philadelphia, Bud Dudley, a co-promoter of the bowl, said four teams are now under consideration.

They are Southeastern Conference champion Georgia (8-1), Georgia Tech (6-3), SMU (5-3-1) and Navy (4-4-1). Georgia appears to be the likely opponent if it gets by Tech Saturday.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Never underestimate the power of Jimmie Hoffa's imagination. He has just fixed it so that he's been the national president of the Teamsters for 15 years. Now this comes as surprise as he was elected only two years ago in September. But I've got another surprise for you. This was a high-priced imaginative bit—it cost the big brotherhood some $380,000.

It happened one night early in October. Jimmie H. Hoffa, of course, that he is an iron man, but even he will age. So he got to thinking about his future. And maybe the future was closer than most other people think. There are drives on to force him out of office. If this happened, Hoffa would not get a Teamsters pension.

That's something to give a second thought. That pension is $50,000 a year. But you have to wait until you're 62. And you need to have 15 years of national office seniority behind you. And Jimmie has been in office only two years.

SO AT THE NEXT MEETING of the general executive board of the Teamsters high command made the pension plan retroactive for a period of 15 years. This was for national headquarters men. It immediately assured Hoffa and his colleagues large pensions regardless of the amount of time they have actually served the international union.

I could give you the percentages of income and how they worked it all out, but why clutter this up. The point is that the national union treasury pays the full pension. The officials do not contribute. That means that the money must immediately be earmarked out of the national treasury. So its 39 million dollars doesn't really add up to 39 million dollars.

Should Jimmie Hoffa decide today to retire into Zen Buddhism, for example, he could contemplate life comfortably from now on. He is immediately eligible for a $20,000-a-year pension for life.

After consulting one of the nation's top insurance actuaries, I learned that such a pension arrangement would cost any ordinary man at least $380,000. Thus the national union office must put aside that much money right now to make certain Hoffa can draw his pension whether he retires or the monitors convince the federal courts to retire him.

BUT IF HE STAYS ON, the union must continue putting enough money into this special fund so it has at least half a million dollars in its pension kitty for Brother Hoffa lone when he turns 65.

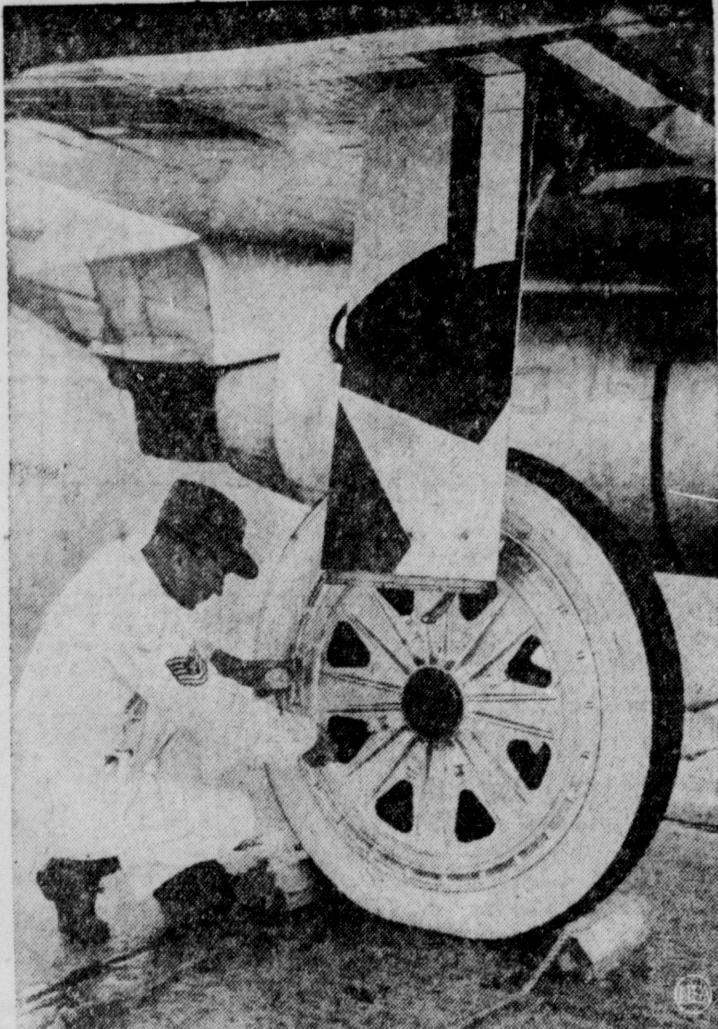

For then he will retire at the full salary of $50,000. Incidentally that's exactly what Dave Beck is drawing now. That means that additional hundreds of thousands of Teamsters dues dollars are tied up for Beck despite his boast that he has a considerable fortune of his own.

Now add to this the hundreds of thousands needed to cover the rest of the Teamsters high command—the other 14 members of the general executive board. They too will get full salaries on retirement, though most of them are employed by other sections of the Teamsters.

You might be fascinated by the imagination shown by this group. Originally only those who were on salary were eligible for a full salary retirement pension. At that time only four of the 15-man high command drew national salaries. The others simply got a per diem expense account or special pay for some special assignment.

SO THEY DECIDED to vote out this injustice to the proletarian's own avantgarde. They voted to put themselves on the national office payroll at $500 a month. This then made them eligible for the retirement pension—and cost them nothing. Nor did it cut their expense accounts.

But the Teamster chiefs must have felt that the total amount of cash needed to back up their 15-year gift to themselves last month was high. So they decided to cut the amount of the national treasury's percentage contribution to these pensions. This sounds fine. But what it actually did was to slice the pensions of the old staff—men and women who have been working for the union for 15 years or more.

CHROME HUBCAPS?—When this F-89D Scorpion jet interceptor comes rolling in at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla., observers do a double take. T/Sgt. Elton Klusman of West Tomas, Mich., checks air pressure in one of the plane's white sidewall tires.

The old timers get hurt and the high command gets retroactive pension credit. How much all this costs few outsiders really know. The record shows that the national treasury spends about $1,200,000 annually on the retirement fund for 40 or 50 people.

All you need is a little imagination—and a nice multi-million dollar union treasury.

If You Want to Ease Your Tax Burden It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE

Now and not after Jan. 1 is the time to think about ways to ease your income tax burden in April.

It appears that tax rates in 1960 will be the same as in 1959, which means that you'll come out best if you are able to equalize both income and expenses over the two-year period.

Tax experts of the Research Institute of America, Inc., advise: "Think about shifting some income from this year into next, accelerate some expenses from next year to this. Or, do the opposite, depending upon which will profit you the most."

How are you going to do this? An area to explore is the optional deduction. The ruling is that you may deduct an amount roughly equal to 10 per cent of adjusted gross income with $1,000 the top limit. You are always permitted to claim the 10 per cent deduction without having to prove expenses. If, however, you can lump expenses into one year—expenses that you can justify—you can get full advantage of the dollars you might have lost in the years when you were taking the optional deduction. This is how this is done:

FOR THE FIRST YEAR you take the 10 per cent permitted deduction. In the second year itemize your deductions, lumping as many expenses as you can into that year. In the first year you will have realized the 10 per cent free. In the second year, you will profit from the higher itemized amounts. Careful: this does not apply to medical costs.

Other things that you can do along these lines include:

If you are a professional and have earned quite a bit this year, hold off billing your clients until next year or until so late in this year that no payments are likely. Or, arrange to receive income from services rendered over 36 months or more in such a fashion that at least 80 per cent of the total compensation falls into one taxable year. This allows you to spread the income over the years and will normally make it subject to lower tax rates. This is a relief provision which you should examine with professional help.

Hold on to your U.S. Savings Bonds, because interest need not be reported until the bonds are actually redeemed.

Don't waste medical deductions. Instead, advance or defer medical expenses so that they will exceed the 3 per cent limit in at least one of the two taxable years.

YOU CAN STEP UP your expenses by doing at least the three following:

Pay all bills already received for expenses rather than waiting till 1960.

Incur and pay this year some expenses which normally would be incurred and deductible in 1960.

Prepay expenses that might be deductible but not due until 1960. This would include interest and taxes but not medical expenses.

If you are contributing substantially to the support of your parents, handle this in such a way that you can claim at least one parent as a dependent.

If you have earned income abroad, check into the special exemption due in this instance.

And, are you aware that to make things simpler for you, the Internal Revenue Service will allow you to report your income on a new tax form? This one is called 1040W. You may use it if your income this year comes entirely from salary or wages or if your income from dividends and interest adds up to no more than $200.

Jehovah's Witnesses Rally Attracts 2,352

"This is the generation that will experience God's will done on earth as it is in Heaven," declared Nicholas Kovalak, Jr., principal speaker who climaxed the three-day convention of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday in Warren's Packard Music Hall.

A capacity crowd of 2,352 delegates and interested persons from the Akron-Salem-Warren area heard the featured lecture, "When is God's Will to be Done on Earth?"

Earl Wyke, presiding minister and spokesman who headed the returning Salem delegates, said "The convention was a success and we are now better equipped to share with our neighbor the gospel of God's kingdom."

At the assembly, 25 delegates symbolized their dedication to do God's will by water baptism in the YWCA swimming pool which was used as a baptistry. Among the baptized was Douglas Stevens of Salem.

Mr. Wyke was also a participant in the convention proceedings.

Ohio Fruit School Set Monday, Tuesday

Dr. Arthur B. Burrell of Cornell University will be guest speaker at a three-day Ohio Fruit School Monday and Tuesday at the state agricultural experiment station in Wooster.

Dr. Burrell, now retired to his apple farm in New York, was born in Cleveland and received his B.S.

degree in horticulture from Ohio State University in 1925.

Dr. Burrell will speak on "Science and Common Sense in Choosing a Spray Program," and "Keeping Trees in Proper Nutritional Condition" at the school which is now in its 29th year.

Over 100 orchardists are expected to attend the short course in order to hear Dr. Burrell.

Burrell's own 105-acre orchard has served as a laboratory over the years for demonstrating new scientific findings. A cooperative apple storage which Burrell led in organizing, is also a demonstration place for new techniques.
